

FOR WINTER WEAR

New Fashions Have Been Absorbed for the Season.

Exaggerations Are Subdued and Simplified, Melting Into Pleasing and Artistic Types.

All the new influences toward winter fashions have now been absorbed and become parts of the composite 1921 style. Paris, writes a fashion authority, is making and wearing its mid-season clothes. It is surprising to see how subdued and simplified all of the exaggerations have become.

One of the Latest Paris Suits.

They have melted into the general outline in a way so artistic that they leave one wondering just where they started or whether they have not always belonged in the composition.

A Lanvin suit shows the development of the suit and the direction in which its cut is tending. After the manner of the straight-lined gowns, the coat has that fullness at the hips which gives it a silhouette that is just a bit wider than those which we have been accustomed to see. And the waistline is only a trifle lower than a normal one. Even about the skirt there is not length enough to make it so decidedly different that it need require an effort to accept it after what we have been having.

Some fashion experts think that the suit will be one of the popular spring notes. It has been so completely disregarded this winter as anything resembling dress wear that we will be in a condition to welcome it back should the ways of fashion turn in that direction. This new suit promises to be of tweed, but of the finer, more delicate fabric, as exemplified by this example of Lanvin's, made of beige velours de laine, in a very soft, pliable quality.

TO MAKE PRETTY LAMP SHADE

Wire Frame Should Be Covered With Soft Silk; Chinese Embroidery Is Needed.

A beautiful lamp shade, simple of construction, can be made by any woman who enjoys making lovely things for the home. The wire frame is prettily covered with soft, old gold silk—three thicknesses of the thin China silk is sufficient. To give a particularly soft and rosy light make the middle thickness of rose colored silk. The shade will then give an old gold appearance, but the light will be slightly modified by the layer of rose colored silk. Then on the shade are placed four lengths of narrow Chinese embroidery—a little over an inch wide. It is that sort of strip embroidery done on silk, with the edges turned in, worked in blue and white and gold. These strips are caught at the top of the shade under the gilt binding and at the bottom they are bound in a point with gilt braid and end in tassels.

SACHET CASE IS NICE GIFT

Dainty Article Suitable for Christmas Season May Be Pinned to Lining of the Hat.

A set of sachet cases that may be slipped into the lining of a dainty frock, or pinned, by its accompanying tiny gold safety pin, to the lining of the dainty girl's hat, are always acceptable accessories.

Varying shades, such as violet, green, salmon, blue and lemon, make a dainty combination of colors to begin with. Small ends of ribbon may be utilized for their making or odd bits of satin. The ribbon is folded once, to form a rectangle about three inches in length, and stitched together at the sides. A strip of flat wadding is sprinkled with the sachet powder, inserted into the flat ribbon case and the top stitched close with very small silk stitches. A tiny gold safety pin may be caught into the top of each so that the little sachet case is ready for wardrobe use at once.

Ancient Scottish Yew Tree.
A yew tree in a Scotch graveyard was in 1090 noted as being one of the largest trees in existence. It is still standing, and according to some authorities is over three thousand years old.

FUR STOLES AND CAPELETS ANSWER CALL OF AUTUMN

WITH the tang of autumn in the air, a study in the lighter furs is most apropos. Later comes the heavier fur coat. Lending up to its entree, designers have been giving much thought to the evolving of fur wraps to span the interim between early autumn and sleighed time.

Judging from the sumptuous fur displays in fashion centers, the problem is solved. The answer is adorable fur capelets and shawl-like wraps made of most unusual peltry, such as American broadtail in tan, black or brown, caramel-colored caracul, unspotted ermine, gray squirrel, krimmer, astrakhan, Persian lamb and most emphatically, mink. Novelty furs are stressed this season, singly and in combination.

For elegance personified, the mole shawl-cape portrayed herewith has no superior. It is a decided innovation, suggesting a shawl topped with a voluminous cape-collared, and it has a

Home for Christmas

OUR hearts are all a-dither, our faces all aglow,
The weather doesn't matter, it may rain or it may snow;
Dad and mammy, lad and lassie, and we huddle tight in gloe
At the bustle of the students, hastening to the old roof tree—
All going home for Christmas.

And the old folks in the home nest, be it cot or mansion wide,
Thru open door sending welcome, on the flood of Christmastide,
To him and his and sometimes stranger, for this day of merry cheer,
Kept in hope and faith and love, this one day in every year—
All welcome home for Christmas.

Tis the birthtime of the Christ-child, we have kept two thousand years;

Tis the glory of his life work shining thru a mist of tears;

Tis the fragrance of the lilac that has come across the sea;

Tis the love we bear our brother that brings peace to you and me,
Till we all go home for Christmas.

Latin Words in Our Language.

The Norman-French people who settled England gave to English-speaking people several thousand words with a few alterations. Then, at the Revival of Learning, a still larger number of Latin words came into our language. The Latin word facilis became facile; the word natio appeared as nation; the word opinio as opinion; the verb separatum as separate; and so on with thousands of other words. And, since that time, new Latin words have been coming yearly into our language and settling there.—From "The Art of Writing English."

BUNCH Your Gifts This Year!

HERE'S the way we suggest doing it. Instead of worrying over what to get for everyone in the family and trying to find time to get it—just resolve now to make this the most sensible of all Christmases. BUNCH your gifts. Make that overburdened family Christmas budget do a REAL job for the first time, perhaps, in history—make it buy a SPECIAL-SIX SEDAN.

Suppose you come in and see this car today. Then, if you wish it, we'll be glad to cooperate to the limit in placing it at your front door early Christmas morning where all the family will see it through the window holly. Terms can be arranged to suit your convenience.
